ALUMNI ON THE GLOBAL STAGE: EVANS ZWANE G20

Evans Parson Zwane: From Kanyamazane to the Global Stage of the G20

Born 38 years ago in the township of Kanyamazane, Lekazi, Mpumalanga, Evans Parson Zwane’s journey to becoming the CEO of South Africa’s largest Physical AI & Robotics company reads like a modern day success saga. After completing his schooling, Evans chose IIE Rosebank College, his beloved alma mater, to pursue a Diploma in Journalism. IIE Rosebank College is a brand of the Independent Institute of Education. The induction at IIE Rosebank College was “seamless and exciting,” he recalls, because the college opened doors to a variety of courses and sparked the entrepreneurial fire that would later define his path.

His studies ignited a passion for storytelling, but the entrepreneurial spirit took over, leading him to launch his first media business straight after graduation. Fast forward two decades, and Evans now heads Optimas Robotics South Africa, the nation’s biggest Physical AI & Robotics firm. The company fields eight humanoid service robots that serve high profile clients such as Microsoft, Absa, SITA, and collaborate with institutions like University of Johannesburg, TUT, and the Department of Basic Education (Gauteng). Those partnerships underline the blend of technology and social impact that defines his vision. Evans recently took the stage at the G20 summit, an opportunity that thrust Optimas Robotics onto a world platform. For a full article please visit the link below.

In our 2025 Spotlight Series we celebrate Mamosa Moretsele, a resilient young lady from Duduza in the East Rand, whose journey reads like a vibrant tapestry of dedication and quiet strength. From primary school to high school, she was the kind of student who never sat on the sidelines active in church groups, a diligent worker on campus, and a bright mind at IIE Rosebank College where she pursued a degree in Logistics. Few knew that behind her disciplined academic life she was also walking the runway as a model, balancing grace and grit while running her own charity that reaches out to the most vulnerable, providing essentials and hope to those who need it most. Her time at IIE RC was seamless, yet transformative; the foundation she built there opened doors far beyond what her qualifications alone would suggest.

Today, she thrives as a Receiving Department Manager at Leroy Merlin, a role that showcases the leadership and work ethic she honed from childhood through every community she served. Mamosa's story is a reminder that perseverance, compassion, and a willingness to wear many hats can turn ambition into real, lasting impact both in the warehouse corridors and in the hearts of those she uplifts through her charity.

As we wrap up this spotlight series culminating in a total of 13 inspiring episodes we warmly invite you to become part of the next chapter. Stay connected with our Alumni Relations team, whose mission is to amplify and share the stories of our graduates, motivating current students and fellow alumni alike. Their success reinforces the purpose of alumni engagement connecting past, present and future graduates to foster lifelong support, collaboration, and the spirit of giving back that defines the IIE Rosebank family.

While on the other hand, we need to sign the Alumni Chapter T shirt a tangible badge that embodies the lasting legacy of IIE RC and the pride of every graduate who’s walked its halls.* This shirt, unveiled at the very first Alumni Chapter Event, is more than fabric; it’s a visual handshake across campuses Braamfontein, Pretoria, Polokwane, Cape Town, Bloemfontein, Mbombela, Durban, Nelson Mandela Bay, and even our online community uniting us under a shared story of ambition, mentorship, and impact. MENTORSHIP PROGRAM OVERVIEW: HIGHLIGHTS OF PROGRESS

In September 2025 the Alumni Relations Office launched the “Elevate Mentorship Program,” a campus wide initiative that brought together distinguished alumni from every corner of South Africa Braamfontein, Pretoria, Polokwane, Cape Town, Bloemfontein, Bloemfontein, Nelson Mandela and Mbombela to share real world stories and inspiration with current students. Over a series of well attended events, mentors from diverse fields sat on panels and held one on one sessions, focusing on three core pillars: Self & Personal Development, Academic Excellence, and Health & Well Being, allowing students to hear practical advice, resilience tips, and career pathways straight from those who had walked the same halls just years earlier.

The impact was immediate and measurable: attendance topped 79 % across sites, students reported a 78 % increase in confidence about their future plans, and several partnerships formed for internships and community projects. By weaving alumni voices into the fabric of daily campus life, the program reinforced the message that the IIE RC family extends beyond graduation, offering guidance, encouragement, and a sense of belonging wherever the journey leads.

THE ROLE OF ALUMNI RELATIONS OFFICE IN FOSTERING INSTITUTIONAL LOYALTY

In a standard definition, an Alumni is a graduate, yet the meaning extends far beyond. Alumni are custodians rather than just mere torchbearers of legacy. Ideally a graduate is expected to give back to the institution however the “how” part is often misconstrued. This now features a culture of what is called “Alumni Philanthropy”.

IIE Rosebank College is a brand of the Independent Institute of Education moreover, since its inception in 2005 there have been total of 52, 843 graduates from IIE Rosebank College. This is a testament to the institution’s commitment to nurturing talent empowering individuals who go on to make a significant impact in their respective fields, underscoring the importance of alumni in shaping the future and giving back to their communities.

While it’s often assumed that alumni don’t contribute much to their alma maters post-graduation, that’s not necessarily true. In the greatest scheme of things, alumni giving back builds a legacy by ensuring an institution’s long term financial stability moreover enhancing its reputation and prestige creates continuous cycle of support and mentorship that benefits future generations.
